Child and Adolescent Health Service
Community Ambassador

About me

I am a Director Solicitor at a leading law firm. I completed my Master of Laws (Majoring in Family Dispute Resolution Practice) in 2025. I am also a Family Dispute Resolution Practitioner.

In May 2022, I was one of 3 co-founders to officially establish the Vietnamese Women's Association in WA (WAVNWA). The WAVNWA aims to assist the settlement and harmonious integration of Vietnamese women and their children, irrespective of age, religion, and ethnic background, as well as encouraging them to participate in social activities; share their skills and experience; support each other; and assist by connecting them with legal associations to empower women to make their own legal choices.

How I want to have an impact

Throughout my career, I have found that my Vietnamese community has faced difficulties in accessing the health system due to cultural differences and language barriers. As a CAHS Community Ambassador, I would like to bridge the gap between health services and my community, ensuring services are inclusive, accessible, and designed around real-life experiences.

Why I'm passionate about community representation and inclusive child health services

My passion is to act as a conduit between CAHS and my community, particularly for culturally and linguistically diverse individuals, ensuring their special needs are met. I want to empower voices by facilitating discussions and ensure the perspective of children, young people, and families are heard, especially those who may not feel brave enough to speak up.
